Change

'Rose, why don't you go to bed? It is eleven o'clock, and you have a test tomorrow,' said Mum, who was furious.

Rose said, 'I know, Mum. When the football match finishes, I will go to bed.'

Initially, during the English test, Rose stayed focused when answering questions. But after a couple of minutes, she started to fall asleep. Her teacher, Miss Wong, looked upset. She worried Rose would fail the test.

Rose got fifty-nine marks. She was upset. Suddenly, Miss Wong asked Rose to go to the teacher's room. She asked Rose, 'Why did you fail the test?'

Rose said, 'I went to bed too late. I'm sorry, Miss Wong. Next time, I will get high marks.'

After this test, Rose studied hard every day. A month later, she had an exam, and she got ninety-seven marks! Miss Wong, her mum, and Rose herself were speechless and surprised.

Finally, Rose has learned that hard work and dedication reap rewards.

A Frightened Day

'Where are you, Chloe?' Chloe's grandma shouted.

One sunny day, Grandma brought Chloe to Shatin Happy Playground. Chloe was excited because this was the first time she went to this playground.

Then, Grandma met her friend. Grandma talked with her friend loudly and happily. Instantly, Chloe asked Grandma, 'Can I play on the swing?'

Grandma said, 'You can.'

Fifteen minutes later, Grandma and her friend finished talking, but Chloe was missing. Grandma felt flustered and looked around the playground, but still couldn't find her. 'Where are you, Chloe?' Grandma shouted. She asked a person in the playground, and the person answered, 'I saw her recently. She is in the convenience store. She looks upset.' Then Grandma went to the convenience store immediately.

Finally, Grandma found Chloe in the convenience store. Chloe said, 'I finished playing on the swing. It was hot, so I went to the convenience store to cool down because it had air conditioning. Sorry, Grandma.'

And then, they left Happy Playground. Chloe learnt that she shouldn't leave her grandma's side when they're out together.

Indulge Anna

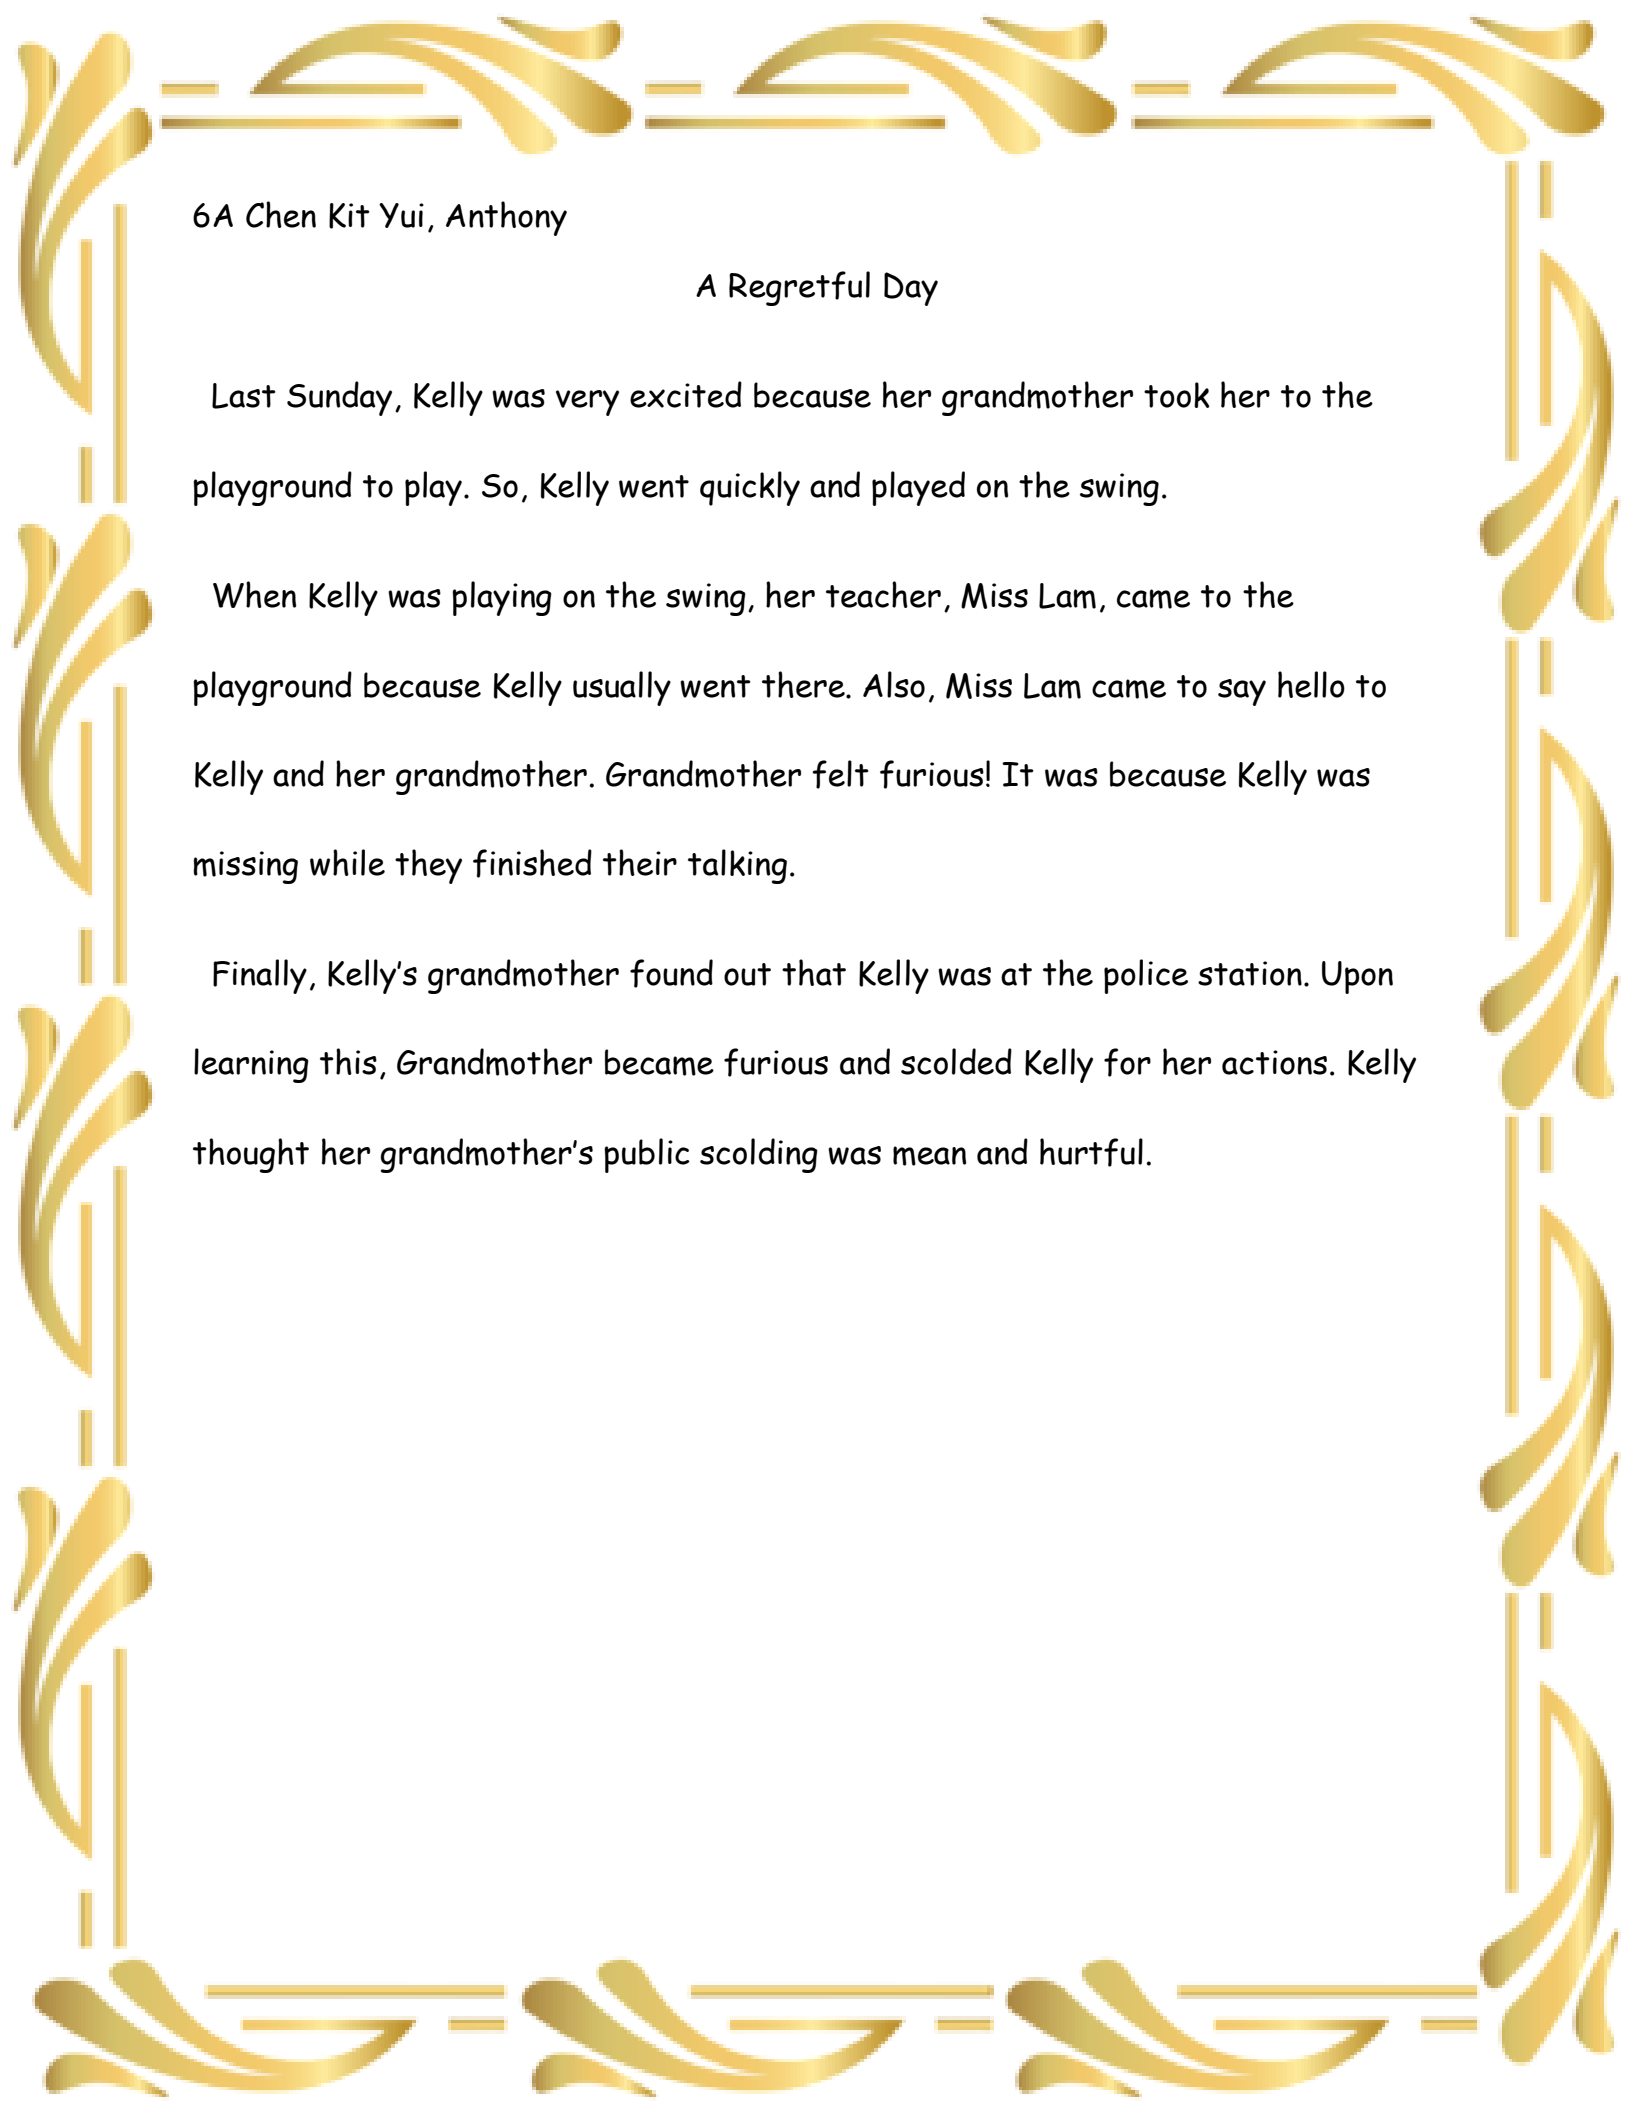

It was eleven o'clock, but Anna was at home watching the football match.

Although she was very excited, Anna was also feeling tired from a long day.

The next day, Anna went to school late and had an English test. During the test, Anna was very tired, and she fell asleep.

Next, Miss Choi asked Anna, 'Why did you fall asleep during the test?' Anna was flustered and speechless. Miss Choi said, 'You should go to bed early, so you don't feel tired during the day.'

Finally, Anna took Miss Choi's advice and went to bed earlier, and her teacher stopped scolding her about falling asleep in class.

A Regretful Day

Last Sunday, Kelly was very excited because her grandmother took her to the playground to play. So, Kelly went quickly and played on the swing.

When Kelly was playing on the swing, her teacher, Miss Lam, came to the playground because Kelly usually went there. Also, Miss Lam came to say hello to Kelly and her grandmother. Grandmother felt furious! It was because Kelly was missing while they finished their talking.

Finally, Kelly's grandmother found out that Kelly was at the police station. Upon learning this, Grandmother became furious and scolded Kelly for her actions. Kelly thought her grandmother's public scolding was mean and hurtful.

Oscar's School Day!

Recently, Oscar woke up late one day, before eight o'clock. He was upset. Mum came to his room and said, 'Remember to bring your English book and your painting tools.' He hurriedly packed his schoolbag. After he packed his schoolbag, he said goodbye to his mum in a hurry, and he hurried to catch the bus.

Suddenly, when he got on the bus, he realized that he had forgotten to pack his Octopus card and his coin purse. He was flustered. He thought he didn't know what to do now.

Finally, a man helped Oscar to pay for the bus fare. Oscar was so grateful to the man. 'Next time, you need to remember to pack your Octopus card or your coin purse,' said the man.

'Okay!' said Oscar. Then Oscar went to school.

Oscar's forgetfulness taught him a valuable lesson that morning - it's important to double-check that you have all the necessary supplies before leaving for school. A simple oversight can lead to stress and anxiety, but thankfully, kindness from others can often save the day. Oscar was grateful to the man who helped him, and he decided to be more careful with his belongings in the future.

Lucky Day

Have you ever had a scary moment when you couldn't find your family member in a crowded place?

Yesterday, Grandma and her granddaughter Anna went to the park. Anna was so excited because Anna wanted to play on the swing.

Initially, Anna was in a happy mood playing on the swing. Grandma was chatting with her friend Mrs Chen, chatting so happily.

Suddenly, Grandma discovered Anna was gone. Grandma was flustered and said, 'Where is my granddaughter?' After that, Grandma looked around for Anna everywhere.

Finally, mischievous Anna was playing on the slide. Grandma felt at ease. Grandma said, 'Next time, you should tell me before you play on the slide, okay?' Mischievous Anna said 'OK! I will remember to tell you next time.'

Grandma and Anna learned an important lesson that day: it's always a good idea to stick together and stay in close communication in a crowded place. Anna learned to let Grandma know where she was going, and Grandma learned to keep a closer eye on Anna. From that day on, they were more careful when out and about together.

A Day at the Park

Recently, Mum and my little sister went to the park in the afternoon.

Once there, they played on the swing. They were constantly swinging back and forth.

Then, my mum's friend came, and they chatted for a long time. When Mum looked at the swing, she was speechless because she couldn't find her daughter.

In the end, Mum found her daughter. She was sitting on the sofa at home. Mum was furious when she realized that her daughter had left the park without telling her.

Finally Found You

Last Sunday, Grandmother took May to the park to play. May was excited and cheerful.

When May was playing on the swing, Grandmother talked to her friend Mrs. Chen. They enjoyed a lively conversation and chatted non-stop. After they finished chatting with each other, Grandmother found that May wasn't on the swing. She looked for May, and she was flustered and worried.

Finally, Grandmother tried to find May. She was feeling discouraged and was about to give up. She was upset that she hadn't found May. Then, just as Grandmother was about to give up, she suddenly heard some sound. She followed the sound and found May fast asleep behind a tree. As a result, Grandmother's worries melted away, and she was overjoyed to have finally found her granddaughter.

Go to the Park

Last week, May and her grandma went to ABC Park. May was excited because she has always enjoyed going to ABC Park.

Then, May was playing on the swing happily. Suddenly, May's grandma met her friend. They were talking together, and as they talked, their voices got louder and louder, like thunder rumbling in the distance. May was too busy having fun to notice and wandered off to explore the park, but soon realized that she had gone too far and couldn't see her grandma anymore.

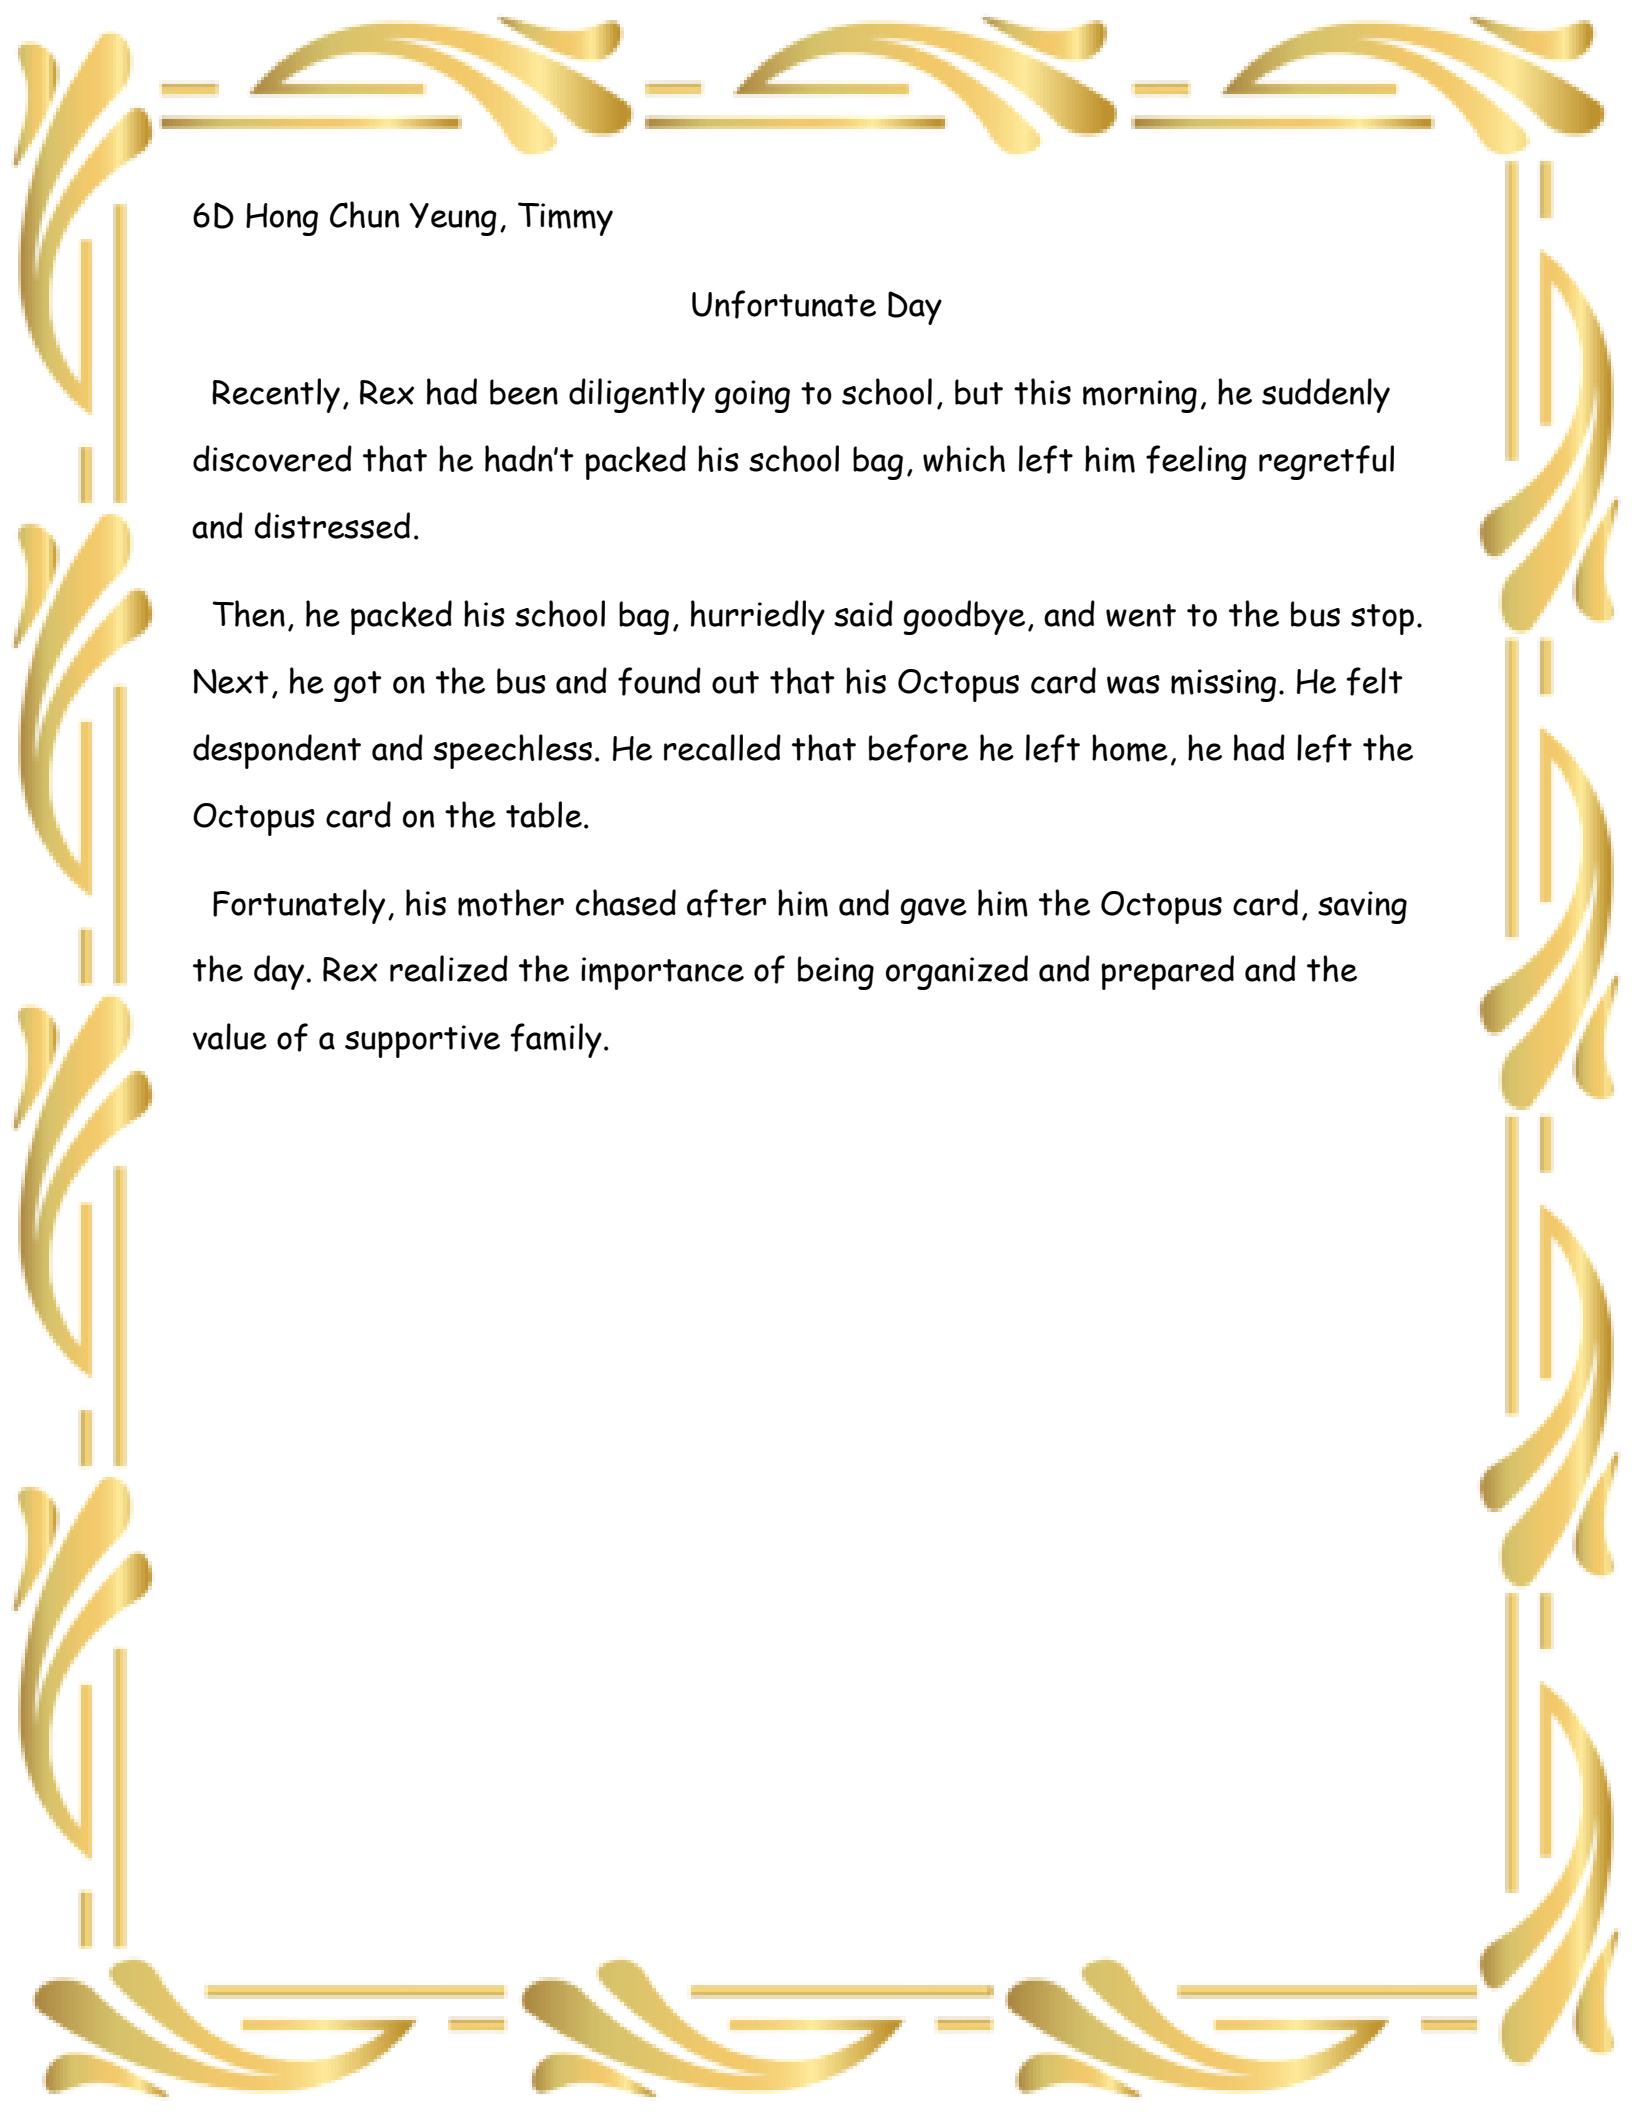

After that, Grandma's friend wanted to go home. Grandma looked at the swing, but May wasn't on it. Grandma looked for May in the park immediately. Grandma felt scared. She thought the bad person caught May.

Finally, Grandma called the emergency services at 999. Police officers helped Grandma to find May. Grandma felt upset. She thought she didn't look after May. Luckily, the police officers found May in ABC Park.

Grandma asked, 'Why did you leave ABC Park?'

May answered, 'I want to buy ice cream, but my Octopus card didn't have enough money, so I went to find you to ask for some.'

Grandma was furious because May was mischievous. In the end, May felt regretful. She said, 'Sorry' to Grandma and the police officers. She learned that she shouldn't run around.

Unfortunate Day

Recently, Rex had been diligently going to school, but this morning, he suddenly discovered that he hadn't packed his school bag, which left him feeling regretful and distressed.

Then, he packed his school bag, hurriedly said goodbye, and went to the bus stop. Next, he got on the bus and found out that his Octopus card was missing. He felt despondent and speechless. He recalled that before he left home, he had left the Octopus card on the table.

Fortunately, his mother chased after him and gave him the Octopus card, saving the day. Rex realized the importance of being organized and prepared and the value of a supportive family.

Kitty Is Sleeping

Have you ever stayed up too late watching TV and regretted it the next day?

Yesterday, Kitty was watching TV at eleven o'clock. Her mum told her to sleep, but Kitty ignored her mum. Her mum was speechless and distressed.

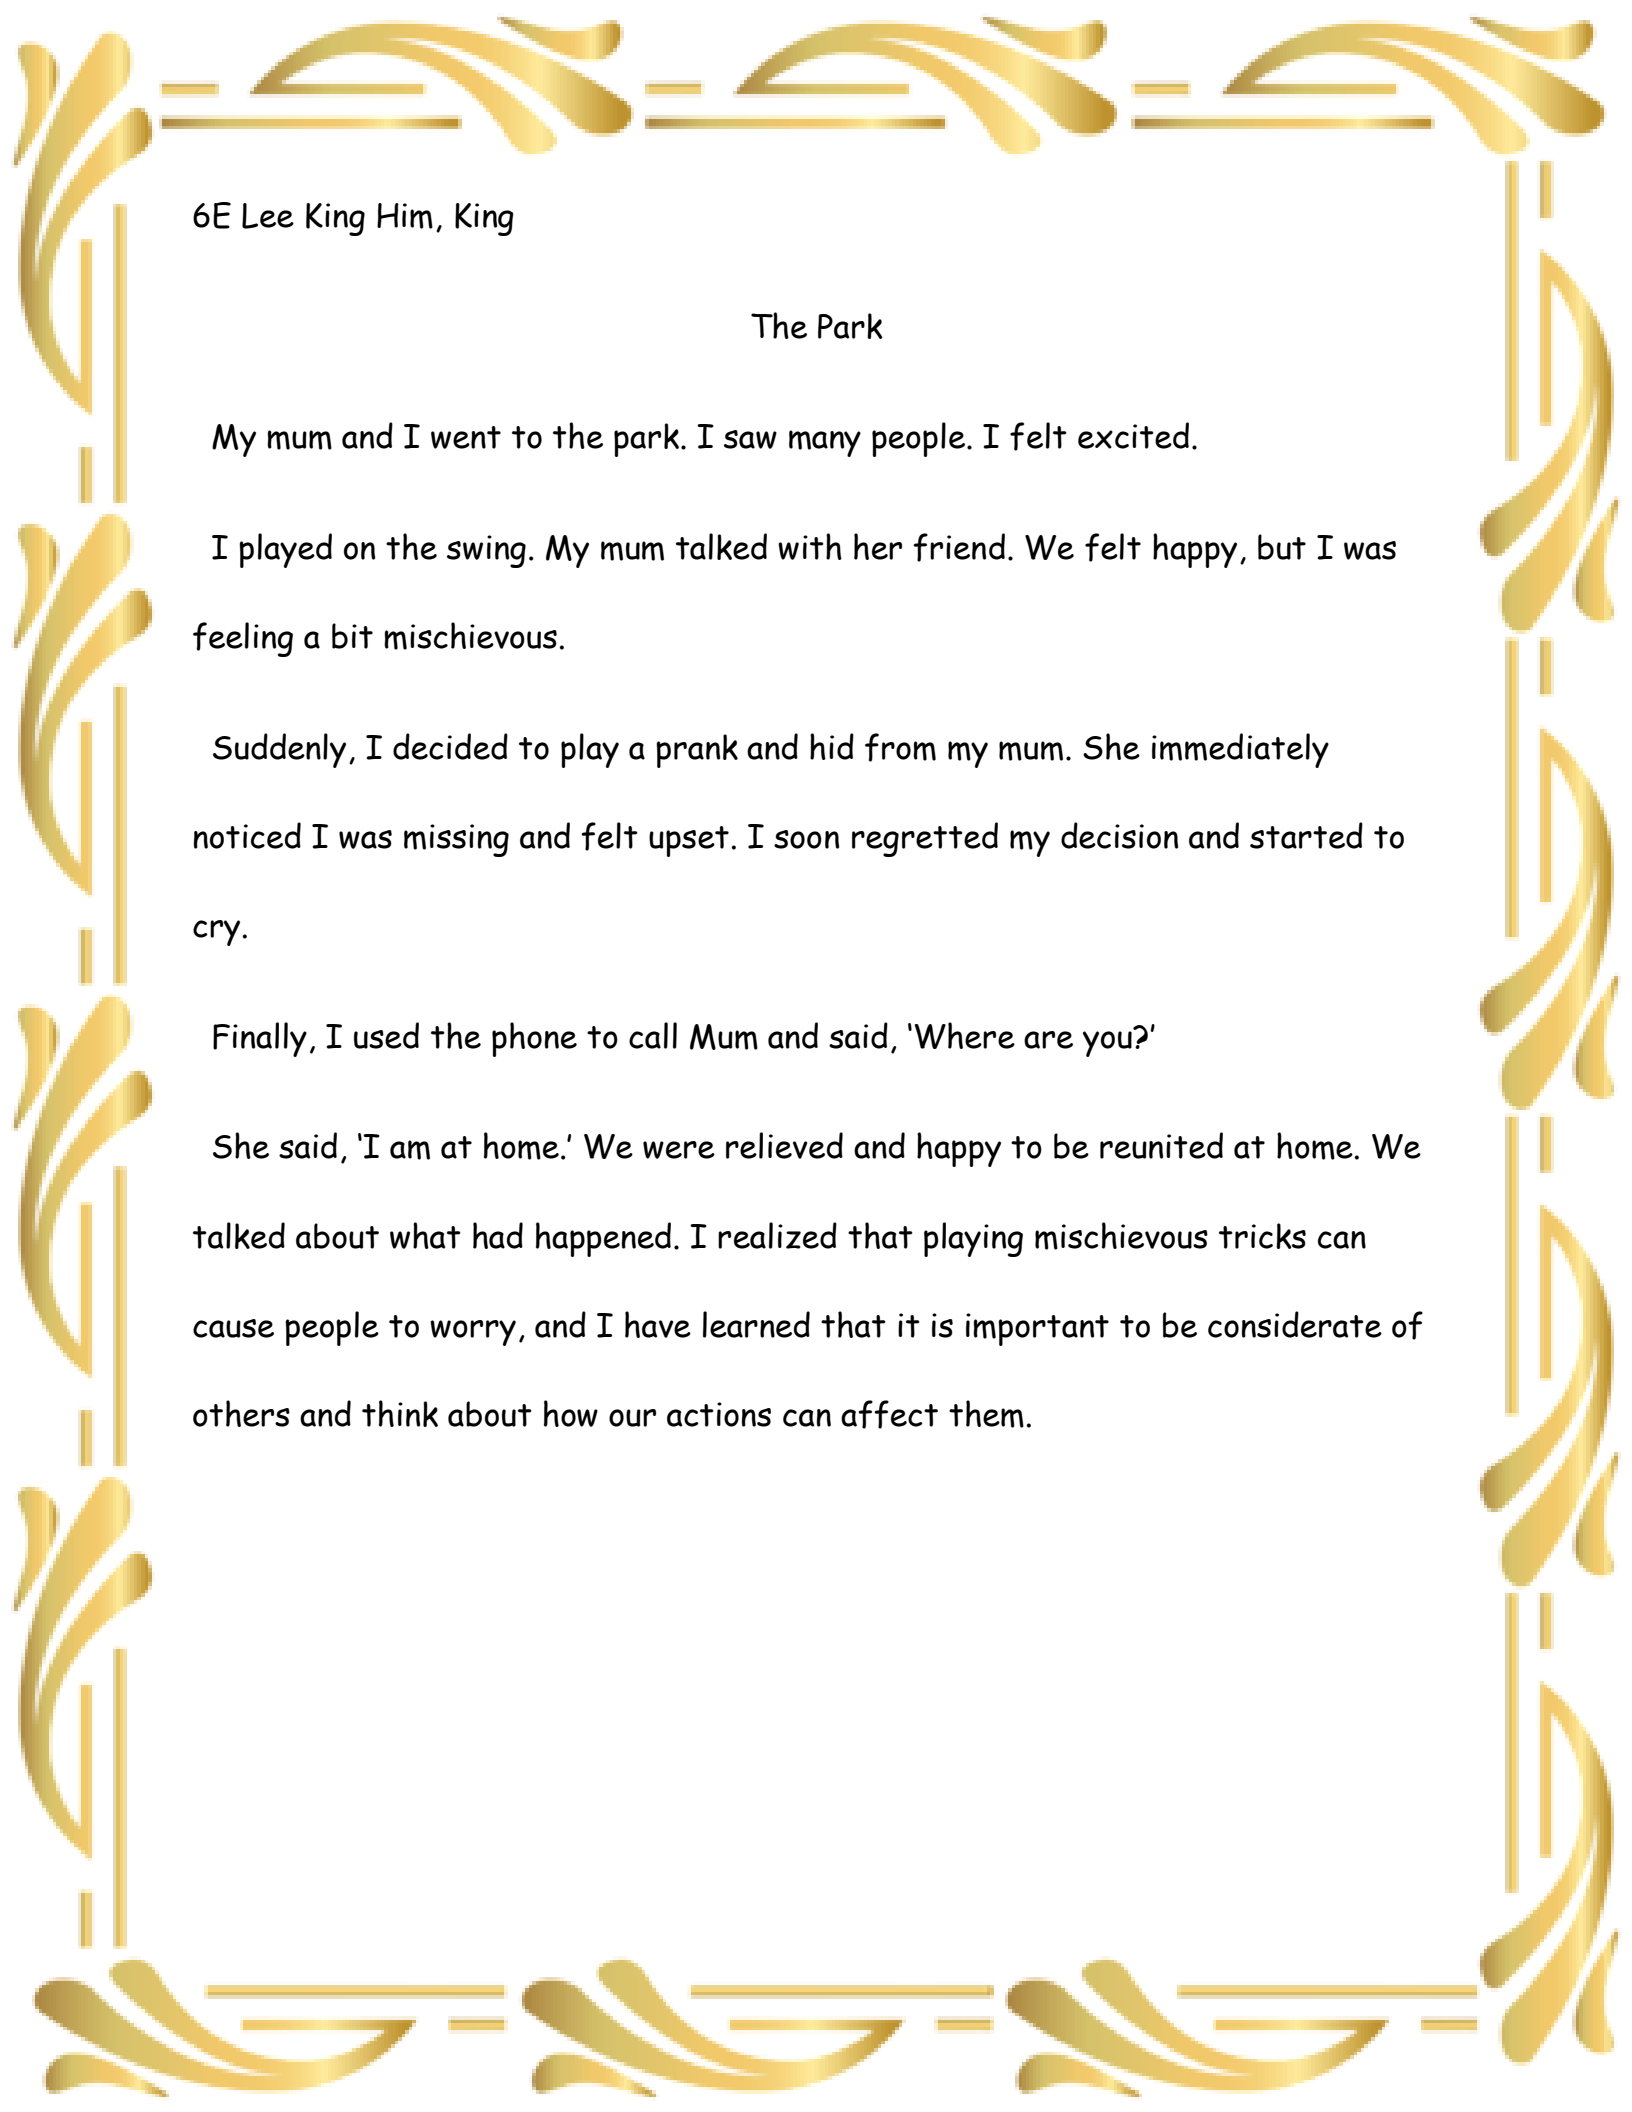

The next day, Kitty suddenly wanted to sleep at eleven o'clock. Her English teacher was furious.

After the English test, the English teacher asked Kitty to go to the Teacher's Room. The teacher said, 'Why did you sleep during the English test?'

Kitty said, 'Because I was watching TV at eleven o'clock.'

The teacher said, 'This test, your mark is zero!'

Finally, Kitty has learned that staying up late watching TV was a bad decision that she regretted, as it had caused her to perform poorly on the test the next day. She should have listened to her mom and gone to bed earlier.

The Park

My mum and I went to the park. I saw many people. I felt excited.

I played on the swing. My mum talked with her friend. We felt happy, but I was feeling a bit mischievous.

Suddenly, I decided to play a prank and hid from my mum. She immediately noticed I was missing and felt upset. I soon regretted my decision and started to cry.

Finally, I used the phone to call Mum and said, 'Where are you?'

She said, 'I am at home.' We were relieved and happy to be reunited at home. We talked about what had happened. I realized that playing mischievous tricks can cause people to worry, and I have learned that it is important to be considerate of others and think about how our actions can affect them.

Going to the Park

Last Sunday, the weather was glorious. There was not a single cloud in the sky.

Kelly's mum took Kelly to the park. The greenery was lush and beautiful.

While Kelly was playing on the swing, her mum was chatting with her friends. They were very happy to talk to each other. Kelly's mum didn't notice the time passing by because she was very engaged in the conversation with her friends.

Suddenly, Kelly's mum could not find Kelly. The police arrived quickly and began searching the park for Kelly. They talked to Kelly's mum and her friends, trying to get as much information as possible. They also called in additional officers to help with the search.

What a Lazy Girl

May was a lazy girl because she watched TV until 11 o'clock at night. Her mum told her to go to sleep, but May felt distressed and shouted at her mum, who felt upset.

The next day, May went to school, but she forgot that she had an English test that day. She was so tired that she fell asleep in class.

When the test was over, the teacher asked May why she had fallen asleep. May explained what had happened and apologized to the teacher.

Finally, May got a zero on the test, and her mum scolded her for it. It's important to remember that being lazy and not getting enough sleep can affect your performance at school or work. May learned a valuable lesson about the importance of responsible behavior and time management.

An Awkward Experience

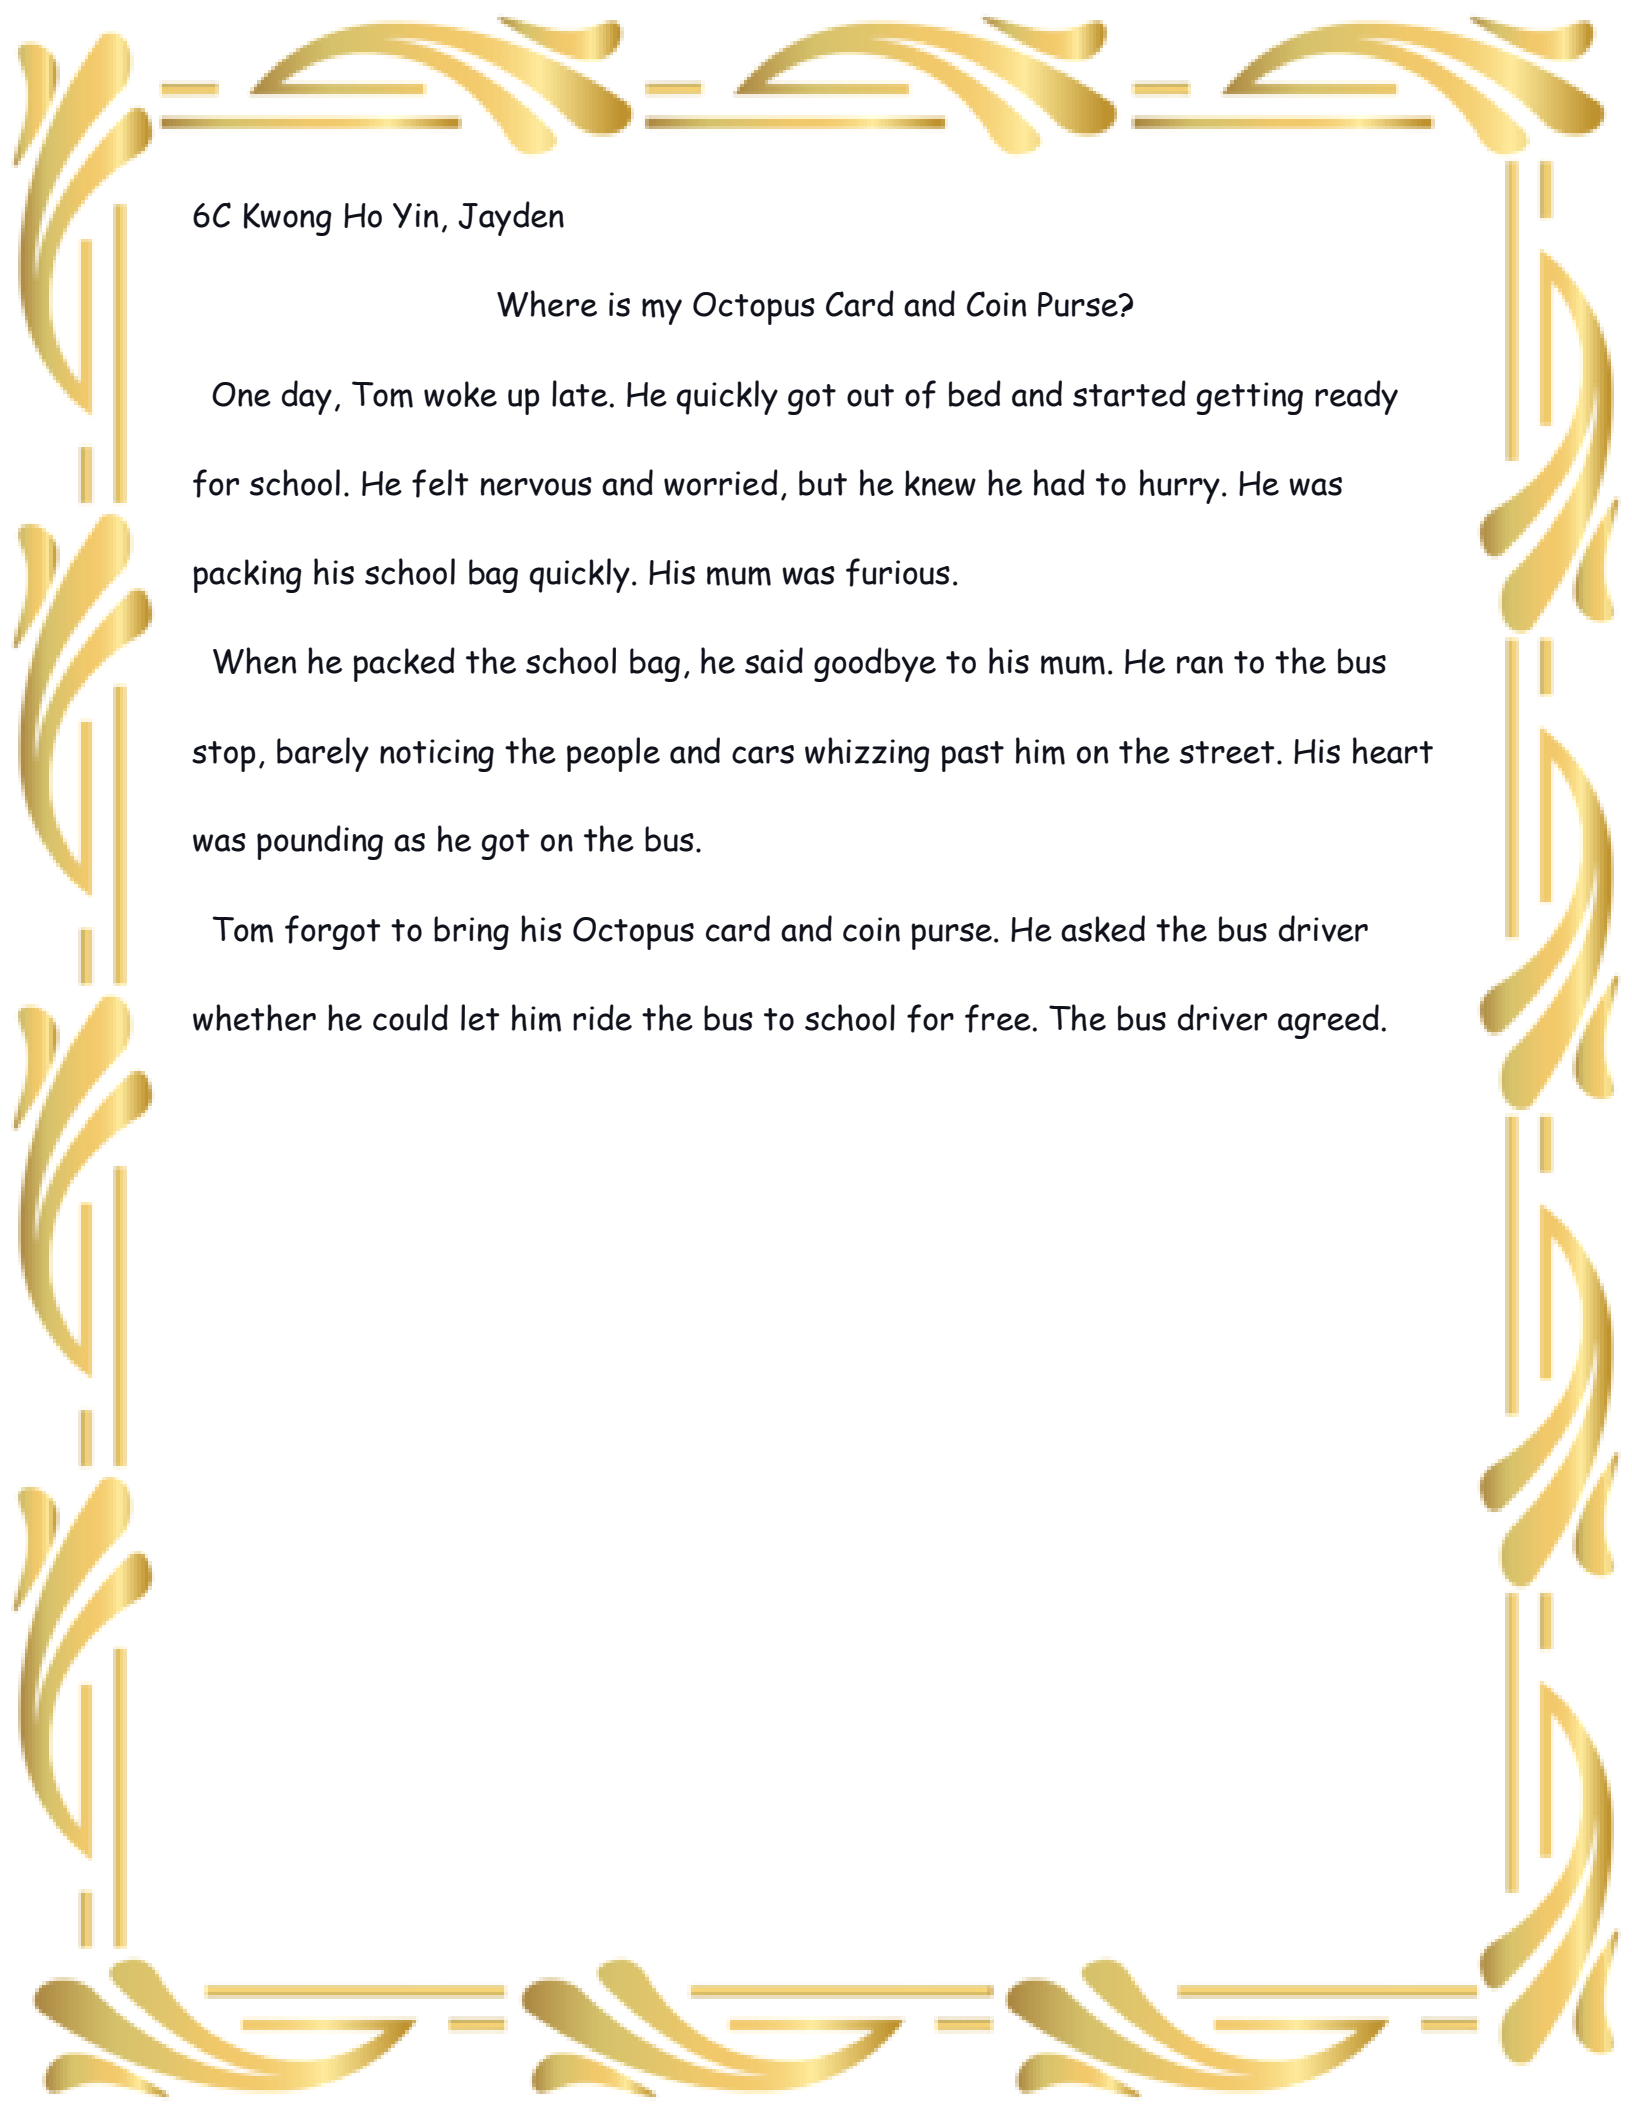

Have you ever fallen asleep during a test? Well, if you haven't, read about this experience.

One day, I was watching TV at night. It was 11:00 p.m. already, but I had not slept yet. Mum said, "Daughter, it is time to sleep." I was speechless and flustered since it was the most exciting part of this episode. Mum was furious, so she disconnected the TV.

The next day, I was in a rush. "If I am late for school, I will fail the test. I must go to school instantly," I thought.

The test began. I answered a few questions. I was tired, and I drifted off to sleep without realizing it. My teacher immediately spotted me since I snored. When I woke up, I felt flustered and regretful. The teacher who was monitoring the test approached me. She took me to the teacher's room. As I sat in the teacher's room, my cheeks flushed with embarrassment, and my heart raced with anxiety. The room was quiet, and the bright light seemed to highlight every little mistake I had made.

Suddenly, I was scolded by my teacher for a while. I've learnt that next time, I need to sleep earlier.

Where is my Octopus Card and Coin Purse?

One day, Tom woke up late. He quickly got out of bed and started getting ready for school. He felt nervous and worried, but he knew he had to hurry. He was packing his school bag quickly. His mum was furious.

When he packed the school bag, he said goodbye to his mum. He ran to the bus stop, barely noticing the people and cars whizzing past him on the street. His heart was pounding as he got on the bus.

Tom forgot to bring his Octopus card and coin purse. He asked the bus driver whether he could let him ride the bus to school for free. The bus driver agreed.

A Bad Day

Today was a bad day. I woke up late, so I had to leave home in a hurry. Yesterday, I had forgotten to pack my schoolbag, so I had to pack it immediately. I said a quick goodbye to my mum and rushed to the bus stop.

Then, I waited anxiously for the bus, and when it finally arrived, I realized I had forgotten my Octopus card. I was distressed. The bus driver kindly informed me that I could pay with coins instead, but I had also forgotten to bring my wallet.

Finally, with no other option, I walked to school. I felt upset.
